PRIVACY

The information you share with your counselor is confidential. No information will be disclosed to anyone without your permission unless it is an emergency and your health or the safety of someone else is at risk. Your contact with the Personal Counseling Center is not part of your academic record. Please ask us if you have more questions about confidentiality and your privacy.

UNDERSTANDING

The Personal Counseling Center offers a place and time to openly talk about any issues, difficulties, questions and/or concerns. During your session, the counselor will listen to you, and through conversation, help you better understand yourself and your situation. Together, you’ll develop some goals and plans for change. You may continue to meet with your counselor as long as necessary to meet these goals, or until another plan of action has been established. Sessions can be scheduled weekly or as determined by you and your counselor.

YOUR DECISION

The decision to begin counseling is a significant one and often made after considerable thought. Whether you are referred, urged to seek counseling by family or friends, or come because of problems or feelings only you know about, we welcome you to contact us at 716.829.7819.

WHAT ELSE?

You can make a confidential appointment by visiting the personal counseling center webpage and clicking the “Make an Appointment” button.

You will enter your name and contact information. No further information is needed at this time. This will schedule a time for you to meet with one of our counselors and a confirmation e-mail will be sent to you.

When you arrive for your first appointment, you will be asked to complete a short intake form that will be discussed at the start of your session. You will then meet with one of our counselors for an appointment that lasts between 45-50 minutes.

You may, at any time, discontinue your appointments. It is helpful to discuss this decision with your counselor.
